
The 7th IACIP Annual Workshop
INVITATION FOR PARTICIPATION & CALL FOR PRESENTATION
Advances in Smart, Sustainable and Resilient Transportation Infrastructure

Dear Members and Friends of IACIP:

The International Association of Chinese Infrastructure Professionals (IACIP) is organizing its 7th Annual Workshop in conjunction with the 96th TRB annual conference. The theme of this workshop is “Advances in Smart, Sustainable and Resilient Transportation Infrastructure”.

The organizing committee cordially invites you to attend the workshop and encourages you to make your travel arrangement accordingly in advance. The tentative workshop schedule is:

Date/Time: 9:00 am to 5:00 pm on Sunday, January 8, 2017

Location: Walter E. Washington Convention Center of Washington D. C. (room to be determined)

Workshop banquet: Sunday January 8, 2017, 7:00 pm to 9:00 pm,

Tony Cheng Seafood (中国城海鲜大酒楼), 619 H St. NW, Washington, D.C.

In addition, we are now accepting applications to make presentations at the workshop on transportation infrastructure-related topics and with a focus on technology innovation and advancement. The IACIP workshop intends to provide a hub for researchers and practitioners to share their opinions, develop connections, and discuss collaborations in response to challenging issues in various aspects of transportation infrastructure. Distinguished experts and officials are invited to give speeches on latest research in this field.

If you are interested in making a presentation, please send your presentation title, abstract, and half-page bio to Dr. Xianming Shi, the chair of the organizing committee at xianming.shi@wsu.edu by Nov. 21st, 2016. The organizing committee will evaluate all the presentation topics and make selections for the workshop based on relevance of topic, interest to audience, and available time. Final notice of selection will be sent out no later than Dec. 21st, 2016.

Thanks for your attention and look forward to meeting you at the workshop!

Xianming Shi, Ph.D.
